

Working together: Fire managers and archaeologists

DAY 1- Tuesday November 27, 2018, Sabino Room- Marriott University Park

0800-0820	Welcome! - Andi Thode and Barb Satink Wolfson, Southwest Fire Science Consortium
0820-0830	VIDEO- Fire & archaeology: Working together to protect cultural resources during wildfire and prescribed fires
0830-0900	Fire terminology, behavior and effects: Principles for archaeologists Presenter: Rachel Loehman, U.S. Geological Survey
0900-0915	Archaeology terminology for fire practitioners Presenter: Linn Gassaway, U.S. Forest Service
0915-0930	BREAK
0930-1030	Humans and fire in prehistoric landscapes: Legacies that influence contemporary ecology and management Presenters: Rachel Loehman, U.S. Geological Survey; Linn Gassaway, U.S. Forest Service
1030-1045	BREAK
1045-1130	Tribal perspectives: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • cultural landscapes are living landscapes • tribal consultation- What is it? How is it done? Why is it important? Presenters: Neil Weintraub, U.S. Forest Service; Melvin Hunter, Jr. DOI Bureau of Indian Affairs, Mescalero Agency; Linn Gassaway, U.S. Forest Service
1130-1300	LUNCH
1300-1430	Hands on archaeological fire effects workshop Presenters: Ana Steffen, National Park Service and Karin Klemic, U.S. Forest Service
1430-1445	BREAK
1445-1615	Hands on archaeological fire effects workshop--continued Presenters: Ana Steffen, National Park Service and Karin Klemic, U.S. Forest Service
1615-1645	Tools for archaeologists: Estimating fuel loads, calculating first order fire effects, and measuring fire behavior Presenter: Rachel Loehman, U.S. Geological Survey
1645-1710	Moving forward: Tips to help archaeologists take a more proactive role Presenter: Neil Weintraub, U.S. Forest Service; Linn Gassaway, U.S. Forest Service
1710-1730	Discussion and wrap up

